LOTS WORTH MORE THAN $5,000

That story about the finding of a gold nugget in the mining regions of California worth $5,000, said Col. T. F. Brooks, who has been a gold miner in California and Arizona for forty-five years, to a Los Angeles correspondent of the New York Sun, seems to have made a great commotion among those miners down in South America, but that was only a boy of a nugget by the side of many that have been taken out of the earth and rock in California. Daniel Hill, who died of delirium tremens in a jail in Los Angeles several years ago, was the luckiest man I ever knew or heard of in getting suddenly rich 'twice. He dug two chunks of solid gold out of the gravel as simply and as easy as a man rolls a stone out of the hillside. The first nugget was found in June, 1866, in the Ruby Hill claim, north of Plumas. It was as large as a man's head and was combined with water-worn quartz. C. F. Huntington's brother in Sacramento bought it for $17,000 cash down. In the fall of 1871, Hill was placer mining on his own accord in Dutch Flat, and, by hooker, he washed out another nugget of gold and quartz about the size and shape of a horse's hoof. He quit work and went right down to Fresno, where he got $14,300 for his lucky find. He had spent the last dime of his little fortune in six months, and went back to hard work in the mountains again. But that ended his streak of luck, and he never made over $10 in any one day after that; more often two or three dollars a day, and sometimes not a dime.

The Miners' Association of California has among its great mass of literature connected with the gold industry and the development of mining operations in this State, many interesting facts concerning big nuggets of gold. The largest nugget ever found in this State was that known as the Oliver Martin Chunk. It weighed 151 pounds and six ounces. The precious ore was mixed with white quartz and it was sold, after having been covered into bullion, for $36,270. Hundreds of pictures have been made of the golden mass, and all the school-boys in California are expected to know the weight, size and value of the famous nugget. There are bronze fac-similes of the chunk in many mineral collections in museums in Europe and America. The nugget was found near Camp Corcoran, in Tuolumne county, in Central California. The date of the finding was November 18, 1852. Martin, a poor miner, who had not even the proverbial dollar to his name, and a companion named John Flower, were tramping on their way up country to new diggings. They camped one night in a mountain cañon, when a sudden and terrific rain-storm came up in the darkness. The water in the cañon stream suddenly rose. The miners attempted to climb the hill, but the flood overtook them, and both were carried down the stream. Flower was drowned, but Martin, though severely injured, escaped. While trying to bury the body of his companion by the roots of an up-turned tree, Martin discovered the rich nugget that bears his name. He was too weak to move it. He attempted to reach some neighboring miners, but fainted from exhaustion, and was found upon the trail by them. While able to walk, some weeks later, Martin took them to the spot and the nugget was removed. Martin made the nugget the basis of a large fortune that he accumulated in the next two decades.

In August, 1869, W. A. Farish, A. Jood, J. Whitsett, F. N. L. Clevering and Harry Warner were partners in the Monumental claim, near Silver Hot Springs, in Sierra county. In the last week of that month they discovered a gold nugget which weighed 1,599 ounces. It was sold to R. B. Woodward, of San Francisco, who paid for it $21,536.52 for exhibition purposes. It was afterward melted and $17,654.94 was realized from it.

The biggest nugget of gold ever discovered in Shasta county was discovered in the spring of 1870. One day three Frenchmen, two of whom were named Oliver, Longchamp, and Fred Bechon, drove into the old town of Shasta in search of a spot to mine. They happened to have some business with A. Coleman, a dealer in hardware and notions. The three men asked him where was a good place to mine. He earnestly pointed the way over to Spring creek. They took his advice, located a claim on the creek some eight miles north of Redding, and a few days later one of the Frenchmen picked up a nugget of gold valued at $6,200. Ten years later a miner named Dent Young found a $520 nugget on Flat creek, near where the Frenchmen found their famous chunk.

Plumas, though one of the richest mining counties in California, has yielded few valuable nuggets. The largest was found by a Chinaman near the mouth of Nelson creek, and was worth $2,800. A miner at Elizabethtown named Archie Little discovered a $2,600 nugget, and Messrs. Hays and Steadman found one about Mohawk valley, near the county line, that weighed 42 ounces and was worth $6,700.

Sierra is justly famed for its valuable masses of gold, found both pure and mixed with quartz. George H. Norman and Frank Amen found near Gibsonsville in 1867 a nugget that weighed over 100 ounces and was worth $1,700. In 1851 at French ran a lump of gold and quartz together was discovered from which $8,000 in gold was taken. In 1855 in the same ravine a still more valuable nugget of gold and quartz was found, and for it $10,000 was obtained. At Minnesota, in the same county, a nugget that weighed 296 ounces was found. This was valued at $5,000. At French ran in 1850 a mass of gold and quartz was picked up that weighed 255 ounces and was worth $4,800. In 1870 a splendid nugget of gold was discovered in the Hallow mine at Allegheny, which was immediately shipped to London, and was there sold for $23,000. In 1860 a chunk of gold that weighed ninety-five pounds and six ounces was discovered in the same county.

In Placer county, in 1850 Edward Gilbert, in his drift mine, near Dutch Flat, twelve miles from Auburn, found a nugget of gold and quartz that weighed twenty pounds. Eight pounds of this he sold at $16 an ounce, or $1,536, while the remaining twelve pounds were sold for $12 an ounce, or $1,728, making $3,264 for the nugget. The same man, many years afterward discovered in the same mine another very valuable nugget. It was ten inches long, from three to seven inches wide, and over an inch wide. The gold was imbedded in a mass of crystallized quartz, with clear cut corners, the sides of which show with great brilliancy. When thoroughly cleaned it weighed 147 ounces, and was sent to the San Francisco mint, where it brought $2,852. In 1853, near Michigan Bluff, a nugget of pure gold weighing 226 ounces and valued at $1,204 was found. In July, 1876, J. B. Colvotre, of Dutch Flat, found a white quartz boulder in the Polar Star mine which contained $5,700 worth of gold.

In Eldorado county in 1853 a 105-ounce nugget of gold was discovered that was valued at $1,800. Another was found near Kelsey, in the same county, which sold for $4,700. In 1867 at Pilot Hill a boulder of gold quartz was found which yielded $8,000. This with several smaller nuggets was taken on the Boulder Grand claim, near the Pilot Hill postoffice. Several large and valuable gold nuggets were discovered in Tuolumne county. In 1853 a mass of gold weighing 360 ounces was found at Columbia. This was valued at $6,250. At Gold Hill, in the same county, Mr. Virgil found one weighing 380 ounces and valued at $6,500. A Frenchman in Spring Gales, near Columbia, in the same county, found one of almost pure gold which was worth $5,000. The rich mass of gold rendered the miner insane on the following day, and he was sent to the Stockton Asylum. The nugget was sold and the money for it was sent to his family in France.

Near Knapp Ranch, half a mile east of Columbia, a Mr. Strain discovered a large gold quartz nugget which weighed fifty pounds. After the quartz was crushed and the gold melted the amount obtained was $8,500. On Sullivan's creek, in the same county, in 1819, a twenty-eight-pound nugget was picked up by one of the pioneers. It was sold for $7,168.

Near Magalia, in Butte county, on August 14, 1859, Ira A. Willard found on the west branch of the Feather a nugget that weighed fifty-four pounds avoirdupois and was worth $10,690. On finding this the miners quit work for a grand justification.

In the last decade several nuggets have been found in the mining towns of California that have brought over $3,000 each. In October, 1889, two men who were tramping up the coast were put off a Southern Pacific freight train at the little station of Bakersfield. Two days later they came back to California with a lump of gold and crystallized quartz. They were suspected of having robbed a mining camp, or even having murdered a miner to get their gold. They, however, proved that while going about in the dry bed of an ancient stream of water, two miles from the Bealeville placer mining camp, for tags for a fire, they stumbled upon their lucky find. They had off-red the gold for sale to a railroad man at Caliente for $10, but he suspecting fraud, would not bargain with the strangers. Subsequently the nugget was sold in Los Angeles for $2,700. It weighed 216 ounces. In less than a week after the find there were over a hundred men from all parts of Southern California hunting up and down that old river bed for gold nuggets but beyond a few $3 or $4 finds there was nothing worthy of search.

In January, 1891, a nugget of pure gold that weighed 140 ounces was found in a drift of coarse gravel in the Goler claim north of the Mojave desert. The very next day another nugget of pure gold about the size of a goose egg was found. Both were bought by a manufacturing jeweler at Pomona. The former brought $2,120 and the latter $975. Several months ago a nugget that sold for about $1,400 was brought into San Diego by a poor, weak consumptive from New Jersey, who had been roughing it in the mountains with sheep ranchmen. In his long daily walks for fuel and exercise, he found himself in looking for Indian relics in a cañon. He found the nugget among a lot of rock one day after a heavy rain-storm had washed down immense masses of gravel and earth from the side of the cañon. There was no more money accumulated than he at the value placed upon his find when he offered it for sale in San Diego. Experienced gold miners visited the place where the chunk was picked up, but not one of them has yet found another sign of gold there. It is one of the perplexities and aggravations of hunting for new gold fields.

The largest nugget ever found in North Carolina weighed 80 pounds. The largest ever found in Siberia weighed 96 pounds and 4 ounces. The largest piece of gold ever found in Colorado weighed 13 pounds, and this was by no means pure gold. The largest ever found in the world was discovered in Australia in 1852, and was known as the King of the Water Moon nugget. It weighed 223 pounds and 4 ounces and was worth about $55,000—Courier-Journal.

Newspaper Subscription Lists.

Free readers or publishers of papers fully and clearly understand the laws governing subscriptions. The decisions of the United States Court on this subject are:

1. Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary are considered as wishing to renew their subscriptions.
2. If subscribers order the discontinuance of their periodicals, the publisher may continue to send them until arrears are paid.
3. If subscribers neglect or refuse to take their periodicals from the postoffice to which they are directed, they are responsible until they have settled their bills and ordered them discontinued.
4. If subscribers move to other places without informing the publisher, and the papers are sent to the former address, they are held responsible.
5. The courts have decided that refusing to take periodicals from the office, or removing and leaving them uncollected, is PRIMA FACIE evidence of intentional fraud.
6. If subscribers pay in advance their bills and then only discontinue, or refuse to take, or otherwise the publisher is authorized to send it, and the subscriber will be responsible until an express notice, with payment of all arrears, is sent to the publisher.

The latest postal laws are such that newspaper publishers can arrest anyone for fraud who takes a paper and refuses to pay for it. Under this law the man who allows his subscription to run along for some time unpaid, and then only discontinues, or orders the postmaster to mark it "refused," and have a postal card sent notifying the publisher, leaves himself liable to arrest, the same as for theft.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

For Railroad Commissioner.

We are authorized to announce John C. Wood as a candidate for Railroad Commissioner, for the Eastern District of Kentucky, subject to the action of the Republican party.

A Montgomery Boy.

The San Francisco Chronicle of a late date contains the following complimentary notice of a gentleman who is well remembered by many of our citizens. His friends here and he has many of them, rejoice to hear of the estimation in which he is held by the people among whom he makes his home.

"There will be no less than five vacancies on the Superior bench to be filled next January, and it behooves all good citizens to form an opinion as to those lawyers who possess the best qualifications for the office. One of the best qualified, as well as best known members of the profession, is Mr. Walker C. Graves. This gentleman, though still a young man, has made a most enviable record for himself as a barrister of rare acumen and penetration in the conduct in civil cases of great magnitude and importance for many years past. Some idea of the estimation in which he is held by his colleagues of the Democratic party may be gained from the fact that he was the nominee of that party for the highly important position of Attorney General at the last election. While he shared in the general calamity which overtook the party upon that occasion, Mr. Graves sustained no loss of prestige on that account. Possessed of rare forensic ability, an adept in the art of handling witnesses and eliciting evidence, deeply versed in the intricacies of legal lore, Mr. Graves would bring with him to the bench all those qualities which go to make up a just and learned judge. That he will receive the nomination from the Democratic party is certain, and that he will be elected is almost as well assured.

Some days since the majority of the "Court guards" that Judge Cooper had sworn in at the beginning of this term of Court, were dismissed. Yesterday all those who had been relieved of again were summoned to report for duty. There may be some need for this precaution. We cannot say what facts this honor may be in possession of that are utterly unknown to the community at large, but so far as is generally known this is a piece of sideplay that is calculated rather to destroy than to uphold the dignity of the Court. Still we should be very slow in condemning a Court for an action, the moving motive of which we are ignorant. So far as surface indications go, there is no need of the guards though.

It was ordered by the City Council at its meeting last Tuesday night that the Clerk advertise to sell the exclusive telephone exchange franchise for the city of Mt. Sterling to the highest and best bidder, and that the bids be opened at the next regular meeting of the Council. This statement without an explanation would be confusing to those who know that we already have a telephone exchange. When the franchise was given to the present company, it seems there was a misunderstanding as to the consideration, the company claiming that their bid was for $50 for the franchise and thereby that it was for $50 per year during the life time of the franchise, twenty years. It is not possible that this matter can be adjusted? Our understanding is that the exchange is giving good service and that it is also a source of revenue to the company. It is certainly a needed enterprise and it both the company and the city will benefit their efforts to settle their differences we see no reason why it cannot be done.

Ten Conviction Insurance men have been arrested for refusing to pay a $50 license for the privilege of soliciting insurance. They claim the ordinance under which they were arrested is a scheme of the City Council to take all of the insurance business of Covington into the hands of a few big concerns.

Oregon's Legislature has decided in favor of a constitutional amendment extending the elective franchise to women.

NEW BOND ISSUES.

The President Sends a Message to Congress.

DEFINES HIS POSITION

The Bonds, Amounting to a Little Less than $62,400,000,

Will Be For the Purchase of Gold.

ANNUAL SAVING OF $539,159.

Washington, February 8.—The President to-day sent the following message to Congress:

"Since my recent communication to Congress calling its attention to the financial condition and suggesting legislation which would benefit our financial condition and credit, the depression existing in commercial circles has continued.

"As a precaution, therefore, against the failure of the timely legislative aid through Congressional action, cautious preparations have been pending to employ to the best possible advantage in default of better means such executive authority as may without additional legislation be exercised for the purpose of reinforcing and maintaining in our Treasury an adequate and safe gold reserve.

"In the judgment of those especially charged with this responsibility the business situation is critical, and the legislative situation is so unpromising with the omission thus far on the part of the Congress to beneficially change the powers of the Secretary of the Treasury in the premises, as to justify immediate action with the facilities now in hand.

"Therefore, the details of an arrangement have this day been concluded with parties abundantly able to fill their agreement, whereby bonds of the United States, authorized under the act of July 14, 1875, payable in coin, thirty years after their date, with interest at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum, to the amount of a little less than $62,400,000, are to be issued for the purchase of gold coin, amounting to a sum slightly in excess of $62,000,000 to be delivered to the Treasury of the United States, which sum added to the gold now held in our reserve, will restore such reserve as to make it amount to something more than $100,000,000.

"Such premium is to be allowed to the Government as to fix the rate of interest upon the amount of gold realized at the rate of 3 1/2 per cent. per annum. At least one-half of the gold is to be supplied from abroad, which is very important and favorable feature of the transaction.

"The privilege is especially reserved to the Government to substitute at par within ten days from this date, in lieu of the 4 per cent. interest, if the issue of the same should in the meantime be authorized by Congress.

"The arrangements thus completed after careful inquiry appears in the present circumstances and considering all the objects desired, to be the best attainable in the estimation of investors between bonds made payable in coin and those specifically made payable in gold, in favor of the latter, as is represented by three-fourths of a cent in annual interest.

"By the agreement just concluded the amount owing to the Government 1 1/2 per cent. gold bonds should be substituted under the privilege reserved would be $339,159, amounting in thirty years to $16,174,770. Of course, there never should be any doubt in any quarter as to the redemption in gold of the bonds of the Government, which are made payable in coin; therefore the discrimination in judgment of investors between our bond obligations, payable in coin and those specifically made payable in gold, is very significant.

"It is hardly necessary to suggest that hereafter may be our views on the subject, the sentiments of preference of those with whom we must negotiate in disposing of our bonds for gold are not subject to our discretion.

"I have only to add that in my opinion the transaction herein intimated for the information of the Congress promises better results than the efforts previously made in the direction of effectively adding to our gold reserve through the sale of bonds, and I believe it will tend as far as our action can in present circumstances to meet the determination expressed in the law repealing silver-purchasing clauses of the act of July 14, 1890, and the arrangement made will aid our efforts to insure the maintenance of the parity in value of the coins of the two metals and the equal power of every dollar at all times in the markets and in the payment of debts. (Signed.)

GROVER CLEVELAND.

Bonbon Land Sold.

Monday at the Court-house door Auctioneer A. T. Forsyth sold for Master Commissioner E. M. Dickson ninety-six acres of land, belonging to Sterling P. Moore and wife, to W. W. Masie for Lillian Squibb, for $850. Fifty-four and one-half acres, belonging to W. T. Redmon and Mrs. Amanda Redmon, were sold to Miss Mary T. Redmon at $115.50 per acre, and ten acres of same estate went to L. D. Redmon for $90 per acre, ten acres at $62, and seven and one-half acres at $21 per acre.

Mrs. Sarah Peters, aged 77 years, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Col. Thomas Johnson, in this city, on Wednesday night, Feb. 6, 1895. Mrs. Peters was one of those lovely characters who seem born to make home happy. She had no ambition to shine in the world, only to go about in her quiet, motherly way, soothing all the pains, sympathizing in all the sorrows, relieving all the distresses, and kissing away all the tears that it was possible. The busy bustling world went on its way, little noting the good the quiet woman was doing to those who came within her reach. Her children rise up to call her blessed and when the thrones are set and the books are opened many will be those who come showing the costs and gains which this Dorcas has made. She died not devoid of kindness to the seed of men, and verily she has her reward.

Messrs. Thos. Calk and J. F. Calk are brothers of Mrs. Peters. Her husband had preceded her to the other shore by a number of years, but her sons and her daughter are left to keep green a loving remembrance of a loving mother. The funeral took place at Col. Thomas Johnson's residence on Friday afternoon.

Reversed.

The Court of Appeals has reversed the case of the Commonwealth against Smith Young, who was sentenced to death in the Jefferson Circuit Court, under charge of raping Little Allen, a child under twelve years of age, last May. The ground for reversal was the lower court failed to give the law on carnal knowledge as well as that of rape to the jury. Such resort to technicalities by our Court of Appeals in the cause of much-handled crime going un punished.

Mr. George E. Owings, who was acting as one of the special guards appointed by Judge Cooper at the beginning of this term of the Circuit Court, let his pistol, a 44 caliber, fall from his pocket last Friday evening and being discharged the ball took effect between the ankle and knee, fracturing the bone, and producing a painful and dangerous wound.

The grand jury is a good one, and if it is possible it will ferret out the perpetrators of the lynching.

Right Arm Paralyzed! Saved from St. Vitus Dance.

"Our daughter, Blanche, now fifteen years of age, had been terribly afflicted with nervousness, and had lost the entire use of her right arm. We feared St. Vitus dance, and tried the best physicians, with no benefit. She has taken three bottles of Dr. Miles' Nervine and has gained 31 pounds. Her nervousness and symptoms of St. Vitus dance are entirely gone, she attends school regularly and has recovered complete use of her arm. Her appetite is splendid."

A Runaway.

On Sunday afternoon Misses Lena Tipton and Minnie Horton entered a sleigh to which was hitched one of those horses "safe for a lady to drive" expecting to enjoy a pleasant sleigh ride. When on North Mayville street nearly opposite Col. Thos. Johnson's residence the horse took fright from an unknown cause so far as the ladies could see, and began running at the same time trying his best to kick the sleigh to pieces. Miss Horton either attempted to jump out or was partially plucked out of the sleigh. Her dress caught on some nails of the broken dashboard and kept her from getting loose so she had to cling to the side of the sleigh to keep her head off the ground. It was a frightful sight to see one young and beautiful girl clinging to the side of the sleigh and another pale and helpless lying within it, while the frightened horse tore down the side walk barely missing posts, trees and etc. on the one side and fences and stone walls on the other. Not till the frightened animal had reached Harper's Livery Stable could he be stopped in his mad rush. Miss Horton was lifted from her perilous position and it was found had escaped with a slightly sprained ankle and a few bruises. Miss Tipton was less fortunate. It was found the frightened animal had kicked her on the knee and fractured the knee-cap. Miss Tipton's hurt is very painful but her many friends are very thankful that she came off as well as she did.

Obituary.

To the memory of Professor R. H. Fogg, who departed this life at his home in Mt. Sterling, Ky., on Sunday, Dec. 29, 1894, the following tribute is affectionately inscribed by his life-long friend.

Rufus Fogg was born in Salem, Me., July 31, 1818, [was married to Mary E. Metcalf, of Fleming county, Ky., Nov. 9, 1842, and died as above]. Truly like a ripe apple, ready for the garner, has this dear brother been gathered, in the 77th year of his age, with a precious christian wife gone before. Around his couch a large and devoted family of sons, all grown up to responsible, useful and honorable manhood. By his side a devoted sister, whose whole being (especially since the death of his companion, June 10, 1883) had been almost wholly wrapped up in his own, and whose heart centered a wealth of affection and interest for him and his that had followed many sorrows and smoothed many rugged places along the way. Amidst all these pleasant surroundings and with a life beautifully finished and fully rounded up, this godly man peacefully—as even triumphantly, though gently—as a child falling to sleep on his mother's bosom, passed out from earth to heaven—entering upon the rewards of a life for more than forty years, at least, devoted to the Master and to good, and we doubt not he is now enjoying eternal reunion with the dear companion who preceded him to rest, and the company of all the redeemed in heaven. The memory of Brother Fogg, and the precious influence of his life, will long linger with many more loving hearts, than that of any of earth's great, or illustrious, or renowned. He was a most singularly gentle life. For many years a practical teacher of music to which he seemed to have imbibed into his own life, and to shed upon all with whom he came in contact all the soft, sweet, gentle, mellowing and refining influences that comes to the heart, enraptured in the sacred song and music.

Indeed, his whole life and influence were one continued mellows strain, with rhythm and cadence and charm and sympathy, all blending in sweet concord. There are indeed few churches congregations in any of the churches, that have come within the radius of his life, but retain in their church music or chorists, the benefit of the life work of this grand old patriarch. Would that the church were blessed with many more such. May the Father's precious example and his devotion be a lasting inspiration in the same work to his devoted son, Professor E. E. Fogg, the sweet church chorist.

Over forty years ago he united with the Christian church—and well did he spend himself in devotion to the interests of the church of his choice and the service of his Lord. But he is gone. Life's fitful fever over and he sleeps well. Truly he rests from his labors and his works do follow him. He has held his last service of song with earthly choir, and he now joins the sacred choir of the skies; and his melodious voice, now attuned to the heavenly symphonies, joins in everlasting hosannas to Him, who redeemed and saved him. Precious memory to dear surviving ones. May his mantle fall on the devoted children and surviving relatives. The blessings and memories of such a life is to them a legacy worth more than fortunes in gold or a thousand world-like things. May they emulate his godly example, heed his life counsel, and make a family entire in heaven. W. P. D.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Made Him a Different Man.

Mr. W. H. Linsay, Eureka Springs, Ark.

"I cannot find words in which to express my thankfulness for what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for my husband. He was afflicted with rheumatism and the grip. His food became disgusting, and his actions became sluggish, having no life at all about him. He seemed a physical wreck. At last he decided to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and after taking two bottles he felt as though he was well. He continued taking it, and today he feels and looks like

A Different Man.

Our house is never without Hood's Sarsaparilla. We will not accept any other from our druggist. Hood's Sarsaparilla cannot be recommended too highly. We cheerfully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills." Mrs. W. H. Linsay, Box 676, Eureka Springs, Ark.

A Chinaman's Ideal Wife.

The Chinamen of Australia, when they take a notion to marry, write to a matrimonial agent in Hong Kong something as follows: "I want a wife, she must be a native, under twenty years of age and must not have left her father's house. She must also have never read a book and her eyelashes must be half an inch in length. Her teeth must be sparkling as the pearls of Ceylon. Her breath must be like unto the scent of the magnolias, and her skin must be like the smooth skin of Kala-Ching, which are on the banks of the greatest river in the world—the over-flowing Yangtze-Kiang."

Where the snow is soft and clinging—

Waiting there,

Of your craft and home you founder,

Mr. Reed sprang his financial scheme on a waiting Congress and country Tuesday. And still the situation is clouded. Mr. Reed prated his bill chiefly for the things it avoided, though he did not mention that it avoided showing where he stood.

Ostrich feather trimming made of small tips is very popular for evening dresses, and comes in sets shaped to outline the neck, with larger feathers to form the sleeves. Among other novelties in dress trimmings is a jet band shaped to edge a yoke, and from this in front falls a chenille fringe, tipped two or three inches with jet, which reaches the bottom of the waist.

The insurance companies received about $30,000 a year in premiums from the property owners of Nicholasville before the construction of the water-works plant. Since the construction of the plant a lower rate was expected, but an increase of 30 per cent. was made instead of a reduction. A petition is in circulation requesting non-union companies to establish agencies at that point. Many Kentucky towns are forming new mutual insurance companies.

Mr. Oscar Wilde on Himself.

In an interview which appeared in the St. James Gazette under the head "Mr. Oscar Wilde," the native modesty of that retiring genius is shown in the following lines: "Every play of Shakespeare is dominated by Shakespeare. Ibsen and Dumas dominate their works. My works are dominated by myself." "Do you think critics will understand your new play?" "I hope not," replied Mr. Wilde. "It is exquisitely trivial, a delicate bubble of fancy, and has its philosophy." Speaking of the hero of the "Deaf Husband," its author says: "I have placed him in the highest ranks of life merely because that is the side of social life with which I am best acquainted."

Fashion Notes.

The newest velvet ribbons have a jetted edge, making them very effective for hat as well as dress trimmings.

Open-work embroidered chiffons come in great variety, and while embroidered with black is used for light mourning.

Melrose gowns in lovely pale shades is a new material for evening dresses, and decided more effects are shown in the new crepons.

Among the novelties recently imported are ready-made accordion-plated China silk skirts, with graduated plaits arranged so as to give very little fullness over the hips.

"Senora" is the name of the new bright shade of Spanish red that is slightly less vivid than the popular very color, but more brilliant than either the geranium or nautarium dyes.

The new figured chiffons are lovely; nothing could be imagined that would look more airy and fairy-like, and, made over silk and properly cut and trimmed, nothing more costly.

Many of the "smart" women are wearing very high turned-over collars of white duck or white serge with their tailor-made costumes, the severity of the lines being softened by the collar opening both in front and at the back with a bow on each side.

Large velvet collarettes covered with lace give distinction to any bodice. These are generally made to fit smoothly on the shoulders, extending in a sort of squared cape over the shoulders, the front sometimes ending in a pointed yoke or sometime extending to the waist. With a pretty "crush" of satin or velvet, these little collarettes are most useful, as they can be worn with any dress.

A "Home Saloon," with free lunch and concert attachment and chemical drinks in variety, has been opened by temperance reform at Chicago.

A novel design for a silk waist, suitable for a stout figure, is cut pointed in the back and two points in front. It can be made of silk and brocade of several colors. This should be used for the lower part of the waist and sleeves. The upper part is cut shield shape in the back, with one seam in the middle pointing down to the waistline and slanting up to the armholes. The front is fan-plaited like the upper sleeve, and a narrow velvet vest shows down the center.

The modest violet has been brought into such prominence within the last two years that it no longer justifies its old-time reputation. Little bunches are tucked here and there on hats, neck ruffs, tur bows and muffs with great effect, and tiny blossoms are so delicately perfumed that they outdo nature. The newest way to wear them on your street coat is to have the bunch arranged with some long stems and some very short ones, with the flowers peeping out from among the leaves as though growing there.

A novel and very French idea for a hat is a large bird with out-spreading wings arranged to form a very complete affair. A three-cornered piece of astrakhan, trimmed with five plitings of black silk muslin, caught up with small jet buttons and finished with a tuft of ostrich tips on one side, makes a very jaunty little bonnet. White roses and lily are much used in millinery, and white velvet spangled with steel makes a very effective crown for a dressy bonnet.

A charming yellow satin gown is made with a plain skirt and a full waist drawn into a belted belt of the same. A large butterfly bow of creamy lace trims the front of the low corsage, and a band of brown fur goes over the shoulders. The large satin sleeves are caught in the middle with lace bows. Many of the newest evening gowns have no inside ruffles or balayage in the skirt, and in its place is a box plaiting of rich wide satin ribbon, which adds stiffness to the edge.

One of prettiest skirt models, which is appropriate for a walking costume, has a tulle silk under-skirt, lined with horsehair to the knees only, and faced with cloth on the upper side, with four strips of the cloth running up to the waist, to correspond with the opening in the overskirt, which is two inches shorter than the under-skirt. This is cut in four gored pieces, which are open to the waist, each piece being bordered with a narrow band of fur, the edge of the underskirt being finished in the same way.

Silk petticoats display a growing extravagance in material and trimming, which is very dis-couraging to the woman with a limited allowance. Colored brocades and muslin silks are used in their construction, with yards of lace and ribbon for decoration. Skirts worn with evening dresses are made of white broad and flounced with long narrow ruffles of white muslin, alternated with a pale color, pink, blue or yellow. These are charming examples of daintiness to look upon, but really possess one requires serious consideration.

Umerica has had a great day. From early morn she chased the Buck and at dark brought him to bay in the presence of the hunters. But in the chase she ran a thorn quite through her paw. It has been extracted. A bottle of Dr. Fennell's Golden Relief has been poured into a bowl, and her paw dipped in it, so that every part of the wound is saturated and brought under its influence. There will never be any soreness, no swelling, no mattering—no "laying up." She can run again to-morrow. Is such a remedy worth anything? It cures just as readily any fresh wound, any corn, burn, scald or old sore. Internally it cures any colic, dyspepsia, pain in stomach, diarrhoea, dysentery or flux. Also it cures promptly any sore throat, bronchitis or consumption (if lungs not already diseased). In a word it cures any inflammation anywhere and the disease, whatever its name, vanishes. No inflammation—no pain, no swelling, no disease. Could anything be more simple or satisfactory? Miners, mill hands and everybody need it. It costs nothing not given, money refunded. Contains no narcotics or mineral poisons. Safe and certain. Never disappoints. Take a bottle home to-day.

HORSE AND TRACK.

Celle VYR 2:08 1/2 may be out as a pair this year.

The service tee of Alcantara has been fixed at $300.

Aylon 2:07 1/2 will not be raced this year, but will make a full stud season.

The only foal by Robinson 2:08 1/2, a colt owned by A. S. Rice, Hickburg, Ky.

Village Farm has entered the colt by Rex America 2:14, out of the dam of Robert J., in the Kentucky Futurity.

The stallion Nedwood by Nutwood, that broke down last season after stepping a mile to 2:12, has been fixed and will be in Simon's stable with Danny Jim 2:10 1/2.

John R. Gentry 2:08 1/2 will remain McHenry's stable to the close of 1895. He will be bred to a new mare at Precourt, Ill., before McHenry starts on his campaign.

Messrs. Lewis and Albough, Circleville, Ohio, who bought the Stallion Wilton 2:19 1/2 at Lexington, Ky., last Monday for $12,000, stated after the purchase that the horse will be shipped to Cincinnati and placed at the head of Grandview Farm, located near that city. They went to Lexington expecting to pay more for Wilton, and consider him a very cheap animal.

At Woodward & Shanklin's sale at Lexington, Ky., on Tuesday the two colts, Joe King 2:24 1/2, the King; second dam, Klucera, dam of Constantine 2:13 1/2, was bought by Bailey & Taylor for $1275. He is a brother to Nellie Anne 2:21 1/2, and will be trained by Joe Taylor, who says the colt is another Rex America.

Fifteen trotting horses purchased in this country for the Austrian government were shipped on the steamship Lahn last week. It is the intention of the Austrian government to cross the American trotting horse with the native horse. Eight of the fifteen horses sent over are stallions. Among them are Deputy 2:14 1/2, Excelsior 2:19 1/2, Calisto 2:20 1/2, Almost Dictator 2:36, Prometheus, Esther, Oranians, O'Stanter, Lucetta, Rosita, Tina and Celeste.

John Spilan aptly states "there never a time when an owner could afford to pay as well for having a colt or horse educated as now. The difference in prices between a colt in the field, or an untrained horse in the stable, and a thoroughly drilled out, on track or road, is so great that any breeder or owner can safely incur the expense of having his good ones developed and sold, or raced, by the best of training and driving tactics."

Monroe Salisbury has bred the Oregon mare Ella T. 2:12 by Alamo and will race her in the East this year. Without doubt she will prove the best pacing mare Mr. Salisbury ever owned. Last year she was up in the front rank of three year olds, winning eleven races and a second money.

At the Lexington sale last week good horses brought fair prices. Dan Cupid 2:09 1/2, Scornie (3), 2:23 1/2, $5,500; Bermuda Girl (3), 2:24 1/2, $4,300; Futurity (4), 2:29, $2,500. Most of the high priced stock will leave the State. I. S. Ferguson, New York, was a liberal buyer and got good ones.

The cold weather, through which we have been passing during the last few days, has been unprecedented both in severity and extent, as a February breeze. The bitter weather has taken in the entire country this side of the Rockies. What of the orange trees, vegetables, etc. on the South that escaped the December cold blast have been destroyed by the present one. A rising thermometer will be welcomed by the people of every quarter. The suffering among the poor has been most direful in many places, particularly in the Northwest.

The loss of life along the Atlantic seaboard during the storm that accompanied the severe weather has been very considerable, as in many instances it was impossible for life-saving service to be rendered aid to the shipwrecked ones.

The Sun Life Insurance Company of Louisville, has been doing a seemingly quiet and small business, but its aggregate is considerable, and one of the representatives is our authority that the company has paid out here in amounts from $35 to $150, not less than $5,000 since January 1.

Agricultural Notes.

There is no better way to bring up a two-down farm than with clover. Subsoiling by proper methods makes it possible to raise some crops with very little rain.

There should not be much guess work about the amount of feed your stock will require.

In purchasing grass seeds for sowing it will pay to get the purest article that can be obtained.

While the snow is on the ground, manure can be very conveniently moved to the fields on rails.

The Journal would be pleased to have the experience of those who have practiced subsoiling.

It is time for those who have not already done so, to begin selecting the best ears of corn for seed.

The Arkansas experiment station has discovered and stated in a bulletin that bluish-green of carbon is an effective insecticide against grain and pea weevils.

Irrigation in Oklahoma and the Indian Territory, it is stated, will soon be one of the most important problems confronting the progressive farmers of that magnificent country.

Waldo F. Brown says he has raised clover over a third of a century, and he says that as a fertilizing, renovating and cleansing crop, clover has no superior, and possibly no equal.

Affairs will neither flourish nor long survive in a soil with water standing upon or near the surface. It consumes much water, but an excess, either naturally or artificially applied (by too long-continued flooding) is altogether fatal.

Stock Notes.

Sunshine is said to be the best disinfectant known; hence the necessity of light stables.

It is said that horses are fond of crabapples and a plot of them once or twice a week makes the coat glossy.

South Carolina's legislature has passed a bill prohibiting book-making and pool-selling on horse races.

An exchange thinks that if the decrease in the number of sheep continues at the present rate, there certainly will be money in sheep after awhile.

Christian Endeavor Notes.

The Christian Endeavor colors of Kentucky are royal purple and white.

In the Golden Rule each week, Secretary Beer gives some information in regard to the constitution of '95. This week he speaks of the places of meeting, and hints of the good programme in preparation.

A parents, Society of Christian Endeavor Society has been formed in the St. Charles Congregational church at Montreal.

The Virginia State Convention met at Stanton, January 15. Although there was fifteen inches of snow on the ground, and the thermometer had fallen eighteen degrees below zero, a large and interesting meeting is reported. Thomas M. Dudley, of Richmond, was elected President.

At the District of Columbia Convention, held January 18, twelve young people identified their determination to devote their lives to missionary work.

At the end of fourteen years the first Society of Christian Endeavor gives this testimony: "Our Society was never doing better work than now, and the attendance and spirit of the meetings were never better, and yet some people say that 'the Christian Endeavor Society is all enthusiasm and a makeshift growth.'"

The latest enrollment of the English societies reach the number of 2,150. Next week we will give the number of Societies in Kentucky.

An Australian writer says the four greatest sins among the local sinners are (1) instruction, (2) inspiration, (3) fellowship and (4) aggression, and the last will be secured in proportion as those which precede it are attained.

Jan. H. Wood and Henry Ware have rented of W. A. Sutton his farm containing 207 acres, for $1,300 cash; 10 acres for tobacco, 25 for corn and wheat, 60 for corn and the balance in grain.

There is now talk of the Broad Railroad being constructed from Walnut Grove, Morgan county by way of Hazel Grove and Campton to connect with the Kentucky Union at Torrent.

The City Council located at the office of Winchester a fire engine for the purpose of taking water out of public cisterns.
